

FEEDBACK, TASKS AND EVALUTATION OF THE PERSONAL WEBSITE ASSIGNMENT

Tim Julian Meiners
mein0009@hz.nl

GENERAL

Compliments

- Website looks nice.
- Website shows my creativity.

Improvements

- CSS should be put in folders. - Carelessness
- CSS should be better organized. - Carelessness
- Career motivation could use a bit more detail. - Carelessness
- Font size should be changed. The headers and titles in particular are a bit too big and require more scrolling than is preferable. - Carelessness

Code Review Feedback

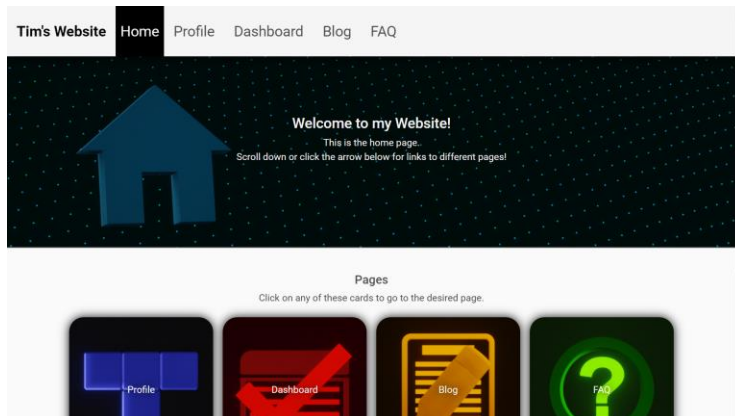

I have not received any feedback during the in-class code review assignment.

Tasks

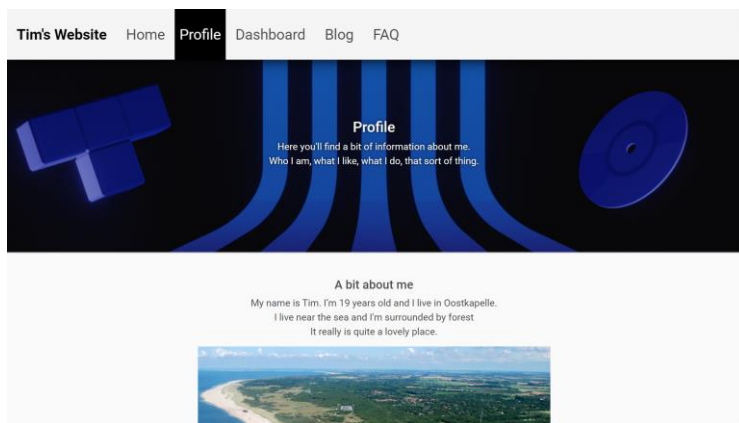

- Create a CSS folder to place CSS files in
- Split up styles.ccs into multiple CSS files based on purpose (i.e. a general CSS file for styling which remains consistent across all pages and separate CSS for page-specific styling)
- Add a bit more information to the home page (perhaps a short summary of who I am, what I do, etc.)
- Work out the blog articles in more detail (current articles are mostly drafts)
- Improve responsiveness
- Fix (scaling) issues with images
- Shrink the big wallpapers: they cause too much unnecessary scrolling
- Further SEO optimization

needs a bit more

Constructive Feedback on how to improve

① open source software, music making available to a larger audience

add some info on your motivation, take a look at font size, some are maybe too big like titles / headings and make you have to scroll more than necessary.

nice clean look though!
